2020 - 2021 San Joaquin County Grand Jury

Independent Special Districts:

Transparency "Not Found"

Case #0220

Summary

Independent special districts (ISDs) are standalone government agencies with elected Boards of Directors. They may extend over multiple counties, but generally have a loose relationship with the primary county in which they reside.

(data from surveys and LAFCO)

With 101 independent special districts (ISDs) within its boundaries, San Joaquin County far exceeds the state average. In total, 68% of those ISDs are related to the agricultural base of the county (Figure 1). The largest components of the agriculture-related districts are reclamation (the Delta) and irrigation.

The 2020-2021 Grand Jury determined that the workings of these districts are often difficult for the public to access, and, for the most part, “not found”.

For instance, every year, property owners of San Joaquin County receive their property tax bill from the Treasurer-Tax Collector’s office. On that bill is a list of assessments and fees based on local bonds and independent special districts (ISDs). Most people pay the bill without question. However, if one were to try to determine what all the fees and assessments were for, it would be a difficult and time-consuming journey of discovery.

The questions being raised by this Grand Jury are not new. Over the years, there have been multiple reports both at the state level and the county level recommending better regulations and accountability for independent special districts. In response to some of these investigations, the state has implemented regulations to increase transparency. The most recent law is Senate Bill 929 (SB 929), which requires all ISDs to have public websites.

Website: “Not Found”

Despite SB 929, only 52% of ISDs in San Joaquin County have websites.

Of those with websites, only seven minimally satisfied the Grand Jury (Figure 2). The Grand Jury sought only basic compliance with SB 929 and meaningful links to state websites. Improvement is always possible.

This report recommends modest actions needed by each ISD to improve transparency and SB 929 compliance.

Existing County Information About ISDs

There is a great deal of information about ISDs in the county, but it is scattered across a number of agencies and is often not easily accessible. San Joaquin County's Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) has a useful spreadsheet listing all of the ISDs in the county, but the links in the spreadsheet are not active and the information is limited. The San Joaquin County Auditor-Controller's Office (ACO) has recent and historical audits for most ISDs, but they are only available by request. Other county departments like the Treasurer-Tax Collector, Clerk of the Board, and Registrar of Voters also have pieces of information about many ISDs. One of the key recommendations of this report is that LAFCO and the county departments work together to create a definitive webpage for each ISD that consolidates and summarizes the information that resides at the county level. An important element of this is an accurate and active link to each district's website.

Sharing County Services – Strength in Numbers

Another key recommendation is that all ISDs in the county consider sharing county digital services as provided by the Information Systems Division (SJ-IS). Many already do.

The Information Systems Division has a large portfolio of ready-to-use and secure services, including

- website creation;
- payroll;
- email hosting;
- videoconferencing and business messaging; and
- office productivity tools.

Creating a modern cyber-secure website and information services (IS) infrastructure is difficult. Very few of the ISDs have the capabilities to do this. Some ISDs have high-quality websites and a number use third-party vendors with specialized solutions. Other ISDs struggle to produce secure and quality websites.

Moving forward, there needs to be a much higher level of overall transparency for independent special districts. The ISDs, LAFCO, and the county have the ability to make sure that none of the critical information is: "not found".

Background

History of Independent Special Districts

In the late 1800s, independent special districts (ISDs) were established as a way of accessing services not provided by the cities or counties. Originally, ISDs were formed by farmers who wanted to share the capital costs of large irrigation projects. The Wright Act of 1887 formed the Turlock Irrigation District and gave farmers in the district the ability to capture, store, and distribute Sierra run-off to local farms. In the early 1900s, the formation of water districts brought water to additional agricultural and urban areas.

Starting in the late 1940s and early 1950s, a statewide hospital shortage prompted the establishment of healthcare ISDs. Property owners realized these local governments could serve the public with more than just their water needs, and a boom in the establishment of independent special districts followed. In the 1950s and 1960s, the state experienced a wave of urbanization in unincorporated areas and a need for services not provided by cities or counties. ISDs were formed to provide specialized services including fire protection, road maintenance, sewer treatment, waste disposal, levee maintenance, and parks and recreation. This was the trend until the late 1990s when the state and county governments became concerned about the increase in ISDs that were essentially outside of their control.

So began the movement to limit the formation of independent special districts. Some ISDs were no longer necessary, while others consolidated with similar service providers to better meet the needs of their community. Since 1997, there has been a 5% decrease in the number of independent special districts. Currently, there are more than 2200 special districts in California. San Joaquin County has one of the highest counts of ISDs in the state with 97<sup>1</sup>.

Legislation

State law defines special districts as “any agency of the state for the local performance of governmental or proprietary functions within limited boundaries” (Government Code section 16271\(d\)).

<sup>1</sup> There are 101 ISDs with land parcels within the county’s boundary. However, four of them are primarily in other counties giving a net of 97 that are considered to be in San Joaquin County.

With the explosive growth of independent special districts in the 1950s and 1960s, issues arose including a lack of organization, numerous uncoordinated local governments, lack of economic resource management, and public disinterest in local government. In response, the Knox Nisbet Act of 1963 established the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) as an independent commission working within the boundaries of each county. Each county LAFCO would help control the borders of cities and special districts, discourage sprawl, and encourage orderly government (Government Code section 56300). In 2000, the Cortese-Knox-Hertzberg Local Government Reorganization Act was adopted. It established “procedures for local government changes of organization, including city incorporations, annexations to a city or special district, and city and special district considerations” as stated on the CALAFCO website.

On September 14, 2018, Governor Jerry Brown signed SB 929. It was specifically intended to increase transparency of independent special districts. As of January 1, 2020, the law requires all independent special districts to have a website that contains specific details:

- contact information
- board meeting agendas
- board member or staff information
- financial information
- SB 272 Enterprise System Catalog

Additionally, Government Code section 7405 requires websites to be ADA Compliant.

Little Hoover Commission

Established in 1962, the Little Hoover Commission is California’s Independent State Oversight Commission (Government Code section 8501). The Commission authors reports and legislative proposals, based on investigations into state government operations and policies. The Commission explores how programs can and should function. In two reports, the Commission found ISDs function in a manner that is largely invisible to the public, compromising oversight and accountability. Consolidations and reorganizations are made difficult even when they make sense. As described in the May 3, 2000, Little Hoover Commission Report, Special Districts: Relics of the Past or Resources for the Future, more than 2200 of the 3800 special districts in California are “independent.” ISDs are governed by their own elected boards. The ones that receive their primary funding in the form of taxes and assessments are referred to as non-enterprise districts. Those that primarily receive revenues in the form of fees for service provided are known as enterprise districts.

Past Grand Jury Reports

There have been numerous grand jury reports regarding independent special districts in San Joaquin County and throughout the state. In the 2012-2013 San Joaquin County Grand Jury Informational Report, #0212, The Great Unwatched-San Joaquin County’s Special Districts, the Grand Jury attempted to assemble a comprehensive list of independent special districts in San Joaquin County. Surveys were sent to all ISDs in the county, but more than 20% were returned due to incorrect addresses. The Grand Jury also discovered, as a result of the surveys, that some of the respondents were not familiar with the terms Municipal Service Review or Sphere of Influence. The 2012-2013 Grand Jury published a count of independent special districts which totaled 100 at the time. The 2020-2021 Grand Jury verified the current count of ISDs and found it to have minimal changes.

Type of District	Number of Districts (2012-2013)	Number of Districts (2020-2021)	Function of Districts

(adapted from 2012-2013 San Joaquin County Grand Jury Informational Report, #0212, The Great Unwatched-San Joaquin County's Special Districts)

Both the 2013-2014 and the 2014-2015 San Joaquin Grand Juries issued reports on groups of independent special districts. In the 2013-2014 report #0113, San Joaquin County Reclamation Districts: Limited Resources for a Big Task, the Grand Jury determined that while the reclamation districts were generally operating well, they lacked transparency and accountability. There were two specific areas of concern noted in the report, a lack of adopted budgets and a lack of contracts for professional services. In the 2014-2015 report, #1401, It's Time to Come Together: Consolidate the Eight, the Grand Jury found inconsistencies in how the fire districts were being run. With these inconsistencies in employment policies, benefits, and tax bases, the Grand Jury recommended consolidation of the eight fire districts to facilitate more consistent services and accounting across the county. The fire districts did not follow the recommendations of the Grand Jury.

The 2016-2017 Grand Jury, prompted by news coverage regarding the Escalon Cemetery District embezzlement case, published a report, #0416, San Joaquin County Self-Governing Special Districts: Who is Watching the Cookie Jar? The Grand Jury referenced multiple instances of publicized fraud and embezzlement in the state, prompting the San Joaquin County Grand Jury to take a deeper look into independent special districts and how they are vulnerable to such situations. The Grand Jury found minimal review of audits being conducted. Due to a lack of tools and guidelines, there were ISD board members who did not understand their district's financial reports. This report prompted the Auditor-Controller's Office to take a more involved role by developing and distributing a list of financial best practices to ISDs and requiring the submission of independent audits annually.

These findings are not isolated to San Joaquin County. Multiple Grand Jury reports in counties across the state have made similar findings. These repeated themes are complex and have prompted many reports producing positive incremental impact.

Reason for Investigation

This investigation was initiated by the 2020-2021 Grand Jury in response to the lack of public access to dependable, complete, and transparent information on the independent special districts within the boundaries of San Joaquin County. It is the intention of this Grand Jury to affect change in independent special district transparency and accountability to the populations they serve.

Method of Investigation

The Grand Jury hosted presentations, conducted interviews, and researched past reports on independent special districts. The Grand Jury conducted a survey that was sent to all 101 ISDs.

Discussions, Findings, and Recommendations

1.0 All Independent Special Districts

Public Transparency Requirements

While independent special districts can be an effective form of local government, they are largely not transparent to the public they serve. In an effort to address this, the state adopted SB 929 which requires all ISDs to have a website that contains at least the following information

- contact information;
- board meeting agendas and specifically the current agenda (Brown Act compliance);
- financial transactions (which can be satisfied with a link to the State Controller’s website);
- board compensation;
- SB 272 Enterprise System Catalog; and
- accessibility – WCAG 2.1 Level AA (Web Content Accessibility Guidelines).

Smaller independent special districts are able to apply for an exemption to SB 929 on an annual basis.

Like any public agency, ISDs must also comply with the Ralph M. Brown Act (Government Code sections 54950-54963). The Brown Act guarantees the public’s right to attend and participate in meetings of local legislative bodies. Among other requirements, board meeting agendas and meeting attendance instructions must be posted publicly in advance of meetings.

Only 52% of the ISDs in the county have websites (Figure 2). Of those, compliance with SB 929 is mixed (Figure 5). Note that in Figure 5, an “Indirect Link” leads to the SCO’s site, but not to the specific information for the district.

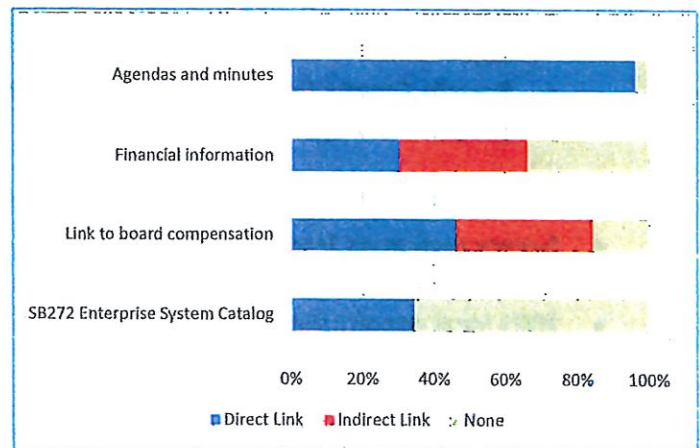

Each website was given a cursory check against ADA accessibility standards (WCAG 2.1 Level AA). The overall average test value of the spot check was 86%.

See Appendix A – Independent Special Districts for a complete list of all ISDs and their preliminary SB 929 compliance.

Website Creation

Very few ISDs have the resources to create a website that is compliant with all government regulations. Nor do they have the resources to maintain a website that is hardened against cyber-attack. The San Joaquin County’s Information Systems Division (SJ-IS) has these resources and is already used by a number of districts for a variety of services. (See below, 5.0 Information Systems Division, Shareable Services)

There are also specialized private vendors. The Grand Jury was only able to identify some of the vendors and/or website creation tools (Figure 6). This is informational only and does not constitute an endorsement or a judgement of suitability. (See Appendix A – Independent Special Districts)

(data from surveys and LAFCO)

Assessments

ISDs are often funded by assessments. Assessments are taxes assigned to each parcel of land in the district. The actual rates and calculations of assessments are done internally by the district. Each ISD provides their net assessment per parcel to the Auditor-Controller's Office annually by August 12th. The Auditor-Controller's Office takes the supplied figures and attaches them to the corresponding parcel's tax bill. Should a constituent want information on the assessments, the property tax bill contains a contact phone number for each ISD. As such, the primary way a constituent of the ISD can obtain information regarding their assessments is through their annual property tax bill.

Some ISDs publish their rate structure on their website but many do not.

Missing Survey Responses: "not found"

The following districts did not return the survey, nor was the court able to contact them in time for this report:

- Lockeford Community Services District
- Mountain House Community Services District
- Reclamation District #38 Staten Island
- Reclamation District #1007 Pico & Nagle
- Reclamation District #2033 Brack Tract
- Reclamation District #2108 Tinsley Island
- Reclamation District #2114 Rio Blanco Tract
- Dos Rios Storm Water District

Findings

The following findings do not apply to all independent special districts. See Response Requirements for which findings apply to which districts.

F1.1 No website was found, negatively impacting public transparency, and is not compliant with SB 929.

F1.2 Not all elements of SB 929 compliance are present on the district website, negatively impacting public transparency.

F1.3 Imprecise links to the State Controller's Office website for financial transactions and board compensation make the website harder to use.

F1.4 The financial transactions on the State Controller's Office website do not provide an easily understood picture of the district's finances.

F1.5 The San Joaquin County Auditor-Controller's Office has audits and financial summaries for most districts that provide a more complete picture of the finances.

F1.6 The district could achieve higher levels of functionality and security on its website by leveraging the IS services of the county or other entity that has focused software for special districts.

Recommendations

The following recommendations do not apply to all independent special districts. See Response Requirements for which recommendations apply to which districts.

R1.1 By March 31, 2022, comply with SB 929. Provide proof of exemption when relevant.

R1.2 By March 31, 2022, contact the San Joaquin County's Information Systems Division (SJ-IS) to discuss the possible benefits of shared services including cyber security and website development.

R1.3 By March 31, 2022, provide a link to the most recent audit on the district website.

R1.4 By November 30, 2021, confirm the accuracy of the information for the district in Appendix A – Independent Special Districts and provide corrections to the Grand Jury.

2.0 LAFCO

The Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) was formed in 1963 by state law. The law established LAFCOs in all 58 counties to help address the population explosion occurring in California at the time. San Joaquin County's LAFCO has limited oversight of independent special districts within the boundaries of the county. By January 1, 2008, LAFCO was mandated to have conducted a Sphere of Influence (SOI) study for every city and special district in the county. Those SOI studies are to be reviewed and updated every five years thereafter. The SOI study is important to the taxpayer because, along with determining which cities and agencies provide services, it also helps determine what taxes are to be paid.

In accordance with Government Code section 56425, LAFCO shall conduct a Municipal Service Review (MSR) in preparation of any updates to the SOI study. The review includes

- population projections;
- location characteristics;
- planned capacity of public facilities;
- financial ability to provide services;
- opportunities for shared facilities; and
- accountability for community service needs, including governmental structure and operational efficiencies.

Even though the SOI study and MSR reporting is mandated to take place every five years, LAFCO lacks the resources to provide these reports as required. City SOI studies are kept current, but LAFCO depends on ISDs to submit the documentation to perform the reviews. When the ISDs do not submit the information, there is no enforcement protocol. Thus, the most prevalent reasons for MSRs and updated SOI studies are annexations, dissolutions, or discrepancies requiring review. LAFCO will hold up annexations and dissolutions in order to force compliance.

LAFCO has the definitive list of special districts in the county, both dependent and independent; however, contact and status information is sometimes out of date. On their website, LAFCO has links to all the MSRs conducted since 2009. They also have a PDF containing the ISD mailing list. The list makes the ISDs' contact information publicly available but does not have a link to the county map, date of agency formation, ISD web address, links to the latest MSR for each ISD, nor any links to the SOI studies.

Findings

F2.1 There is no easy access from the LAFCO website to the websites of independent special districts, making it difficult for the public to find information about those districts.

F2.2 There is no comprehensive central directory from which the public can access information on their independent special districts, making such information difficult to find.

F2.3 The public would benefit from the addition of the following to the LAFCO website

- District website link;
- Link to latest Municipal Service Review;
- Link to latest Sphere of Influence study;
- Link to the district map (usually found on the county GIS);
- Date of agency formation; and
- Links to information about each Independent Special District as available from county departments.

Recommendations

R2.1 By March 31, 2022, LAFCO work with the San Joaquin County Information Systems Division (SJ-IS) to create a webpage on the LAFCO website that lists all independent special districts within the boundaries of the county and provide a link to a standard summary page for each district.

R2.2 By March 31, 2022, on the summary webpage for each district, LAFCO provide at least the following information

- A link to the independent special district's website;
- A link to a map of the district's boundaries;
- A link to the most recent Municipal Service Review;
- Links to all past Municipal Service Reviews that are available online;
- A link to most recent Sphere of Influence study; and
- Formation date and a description of the district.

R2.3 By March 31, 2022, LAFCO work with the county on this summary page to also include summary information from any county department which has information on the referenced independent special district. This would include information such as recent audits from the Auditor-Controller's Office, current elections from the Registrar of Voters, and Board of Supervisors' special district board member appointments from Clerk of the Board.

3.0 The County

The county and the ISDs are independent government agencies. One does not report to the other. However, they do interact and as such, in the normal course of business, the county has certain information about many of the ISDs that includes

- The Auditor-Controller's Office receives annual audits and applies parcel assessments to be billed on landowner property taxes. While the Auditor-Controller's Office collects the audits of each of the independent special districts, that information is not available on their website;
- The Treasurer-Tax Collector distributes property tax bills and collects payments. People interested in viewing their own property tax bill can do so on the Treasurer-Tax Collector's website;
- The Board of Supervisors can make board appointments when there are vacancies.
- The Information Systems Division provides services to a number of ISDs;
- The county maintains a district map that shows the boundaries of most of the special districts, both dependent and independent;
- The Clerk of the Board has limited interactions with ISDs but has the responsibility of providing access to public records and scheduling appointments to Boards and Commissions; and
- The Registrar of Voters holds local elections for Independent Special District board members when requested to do so.

Website Access

The residents of San Joaquin County do not have access to a website that could lead them to the full information about each of the ISDs within the geographic boundaries of the county. The best they have is LAFCO's spreadsheet.

Other counties have similar limited views, but some have active links to the ISD's websites.

High Number of ISDs

Largely because of its many agricultural districts (Figure 1), San Joaquin County has one of the highest numbers of ISDs in the state.

County	Number of ISDs	2020 Population	Per 100,000 Citizens
Tulare	87	471,389	18.5

(adapted from California State Controller's Office website)

Findings

F3.1 There is no easy access from the county website to the websites of independent special districts, making it difficult for the public to find information about those districts.

F3.2 County departments have information on independent special districts that is difficult for the public to access.

Recommendations

Recommendations are listed below by department.

4.0 San Joaquin County Auditor-Controller's Office

Audits

The Auditor-Controller's Office (ACO) receives audits from most ISDs on an annual basis. Summary information about these audits is maintained in an internal spreadsheet. This includes a brief financial analysis. Increasingly, the audits are delivered by the ISDs to the ACO in digital form (PDF), but many are still delivered on paper. Currently, the audits are not available for public access through a website.

The detailed audits that the ACO collects are in sharp contrast to the limited information collected by the State Controller's Office (SCO). The SCO gathers unstructured transactional information<sup>3</sup> which is very difficult to assemble into a meaningful financial picture of a district.

The ACO's diligence in auditing has caught instances of malfeasance in the past. In particular, there was embezzlement at the Escalon Cemetery District as noted in the 2016-2017 Grand Jury report #0416, San Joaquin County Self-Governing Special Districts: Who is Watching the Cookie Jar?.

Parcel Tax Assessments for ISDs

ISDs often get a major part of their funding from parcel tax assessments. Each district internally maintains a rate structure for the parcels in its district. Once a year (by August 12th), they compute the net assessment per parcel and send them to the ACO. This information eventually makes it into the property tax statement from the county. The county does not know how the amount is calculated and simply serves as a tax collection agency for the districts.

County Bank and Financial Services

For many districts the ACO provides banking and payroll services.

<sup>3</sup> Special districts are annually required to file a Financial Transactions Report. The largest part of this report is a spreadsheet row for every revenue and expense transaction. This is much like the check register of the district and provides very little structure to the information.

Findings

F4.1 The independent special district audits, on file with the Auditor-Controller's Office, are not easily accessible to the public.

F4.2 The brief financial summaries derived from the audits by the Auditor-Controller's Office are not easily accessible to the public.

F4.3 The Auditor-Controller's Office financial summaries provide a clearer picture of a district's finances than that which is found on the State Controller's Office site.

Recommendations

R4.1 By September 30, 2021, the Auditor-Controller's Office require all future independent special district audits to be submitted in an electronic form.

R4.2 By December 31, 2021, make all electronic independent special district audits going forward available on the Auditor-Controller's website.

R4.3 By March 31, 2022, the Auditor-Controller's Office provide the most recent independent special district audit links to LAFCO for their new independent special district summary webpages.

5.0 The Information Systems Division

The San Joaquin County's Information Systems Division (SJ-IS) is a mature and fully functional government Information Services (IS) department with broad capabilities and a forward-looking strategy. It has an experienced management team and professional staff of over 100 employees.

Being a government agency, the department has requirements beyond a normal business entity. Special regulations require the following capabilities, among others

- a high level of security;
- accessibility for those with special needs; and
- public transparency.

Strategy and Cyber Security

The SJ-IS has an extensive Digital Services & Innovations Strategy including a robust Cyber Security Strategy. Any ISD that shares services with the county benefits from these strategies and their implementation.

Shareable Services

San Joaquin County has software applications for everything from hospitals to tax collection to streetlights. The breadth of requirements for a county IS department means a large catalog of services (see Appendix B - Enterprise Service Catalog). Many of the services can be partitioned for private and isolated use by another government agency such as an ISD. Effectively, it would be as if that entity has its own data center. Some of the services available are

- Overall cyber security Achieving the levels of security described in SJ-IS's Cyber Security Strategy is not easy and getting it wrong can be costly;
- Secure email An ISD can maintain their existing email addresses and take advantage of the county's infrastructure. County and ISD emails would be completely isolated;
- Office productivity tools The SJ-IS can provide an isolated version of Microsoft's Office 365 which includes Word, Excel, and PowerPoint;
- Document storage Microsoft SharePoint is part of the Office 365 package;
- Video conferencing and business messaging The SJ-IS offers Microsoft Teams, Zoom, and WebEx;
- Financial and payroll systems The Division has a full suite of shareable financial packages from Oracle's PeopleSoft; and
- Content management This software facilitates the creation and maintenance of webpages. (See Website Creation and Hosting below).

A number of ISDs already share county services via MOUs. The following ISDs use county financial systems:

- Clements Rural Fire District
- Escalon Cemetery District
- Farmington Rural Fire District
- French Camp McKinley Rural Fire District
- Lathrop Manteca Fire District
- Lockeford Community Services District
- Mokelumne Rural Fire District
- Montezuma Rural Fire District
- Mountain House Community Services District
- San Joaquin County Mosquito Abatement District
- Stockton East Water District
- Tracy Public Cemetery District
- Waterloo Morada Rural Fire District
- Woodbridge Sanitary District

The Mountain House Community Services District additionally uses other shared services provided by SJ-IS including

- GIS (Graphical Information System) for roads, storm, wastewater and water;
- data backup;
- document imaging;
- SJ-IS cloud services; and
- Office 365.

Website Creation and Hosting

The SJ-IS is capable of providing full website support for other government agencies including ISDs. Services include

- creating a basic website that is compliant with regulations including SB 272, SB 929, and WCAG 2.1 (ADA);
- “content management” tools for self-authoring and maintenance of webpages;
- cyber security;
- isolation (the entity’s domain is separate from the county); and
- training.

Registrar of Voters

The San Joaquin County Registrar of Voters (ROV) is part of the SJ-IS and provides election services to ISDs when needed.

Findings

F5.1 The county has a modern, professionally run Information Systems Division with many quality services that can be shared with independent special districts.

F5.2 The county’s robust implementation of its cyber strategy would be difficult for most independent special districts to duplicate.

Recommendations

R5.1 By March 31, 2022, the San Joaquin County Information Systems Division create a catalog of available services, benefits, costs, and sample MOUs, and distribute to all independent special districts.

R5.2 By March 31, 2022, the San Joaquin County Information Systems Division, in conjunction with at least one independent special district, create a working, model website that can be maintained and expanded by the independent special district.

Conclusion

While most independent special districts in San Joaquin County are performing the tasks for which they were created, many are not consistently operating in a manner that is transparent to the constituents they serve. By working together, San Joaquin County, LAFCO, and the independent special districts can and should do a better job of providing information that is easily accessible to the public.

RADIO PROGRAM UPDATE

Programming – We have all the software and hardware for programming all the radios now. Stanislaus County has made there switch to their dispatch and all of our portable radios have programmed and are working correctly.

Equipment – I have gone through all of our portable radios and replaced all the broken antennas. I repaired the screens on two of our portable radios by using parts from two of the damaged radios we received from Ceres. I am currently going through the radios that we received from Ceres and Salida and will program the ones in the best condition.

Accountability – I have issued the Engineers radios and have created a system for reserves/volunteers to checkout radios while they are working and maintain accountability.
